SIZING GUIDE

Eleanor

As your Anna Campbell dress is made-to-order, once you have chosen the perfect style, choosing your size is the next most important decision! The best size will always be the one you are most comfortable in, that flows beautifully over your shape, and leaves a little room for movement and alterations. Remember, we can take your dress in; we don't have as many options to let your dress out! Our Online Stylist is available to help with any sizing questions.

WHERE TO MEASURE

BUST

Measure the circumference of your bust from the centre of your breast, all the way around.

HIP

Measure the circumference of your widest point, around your hips and bottom.

WAIST

Measure the circumference of the smallest part of your waist.

LENGTH

Measure the length from the underwire of your bra to the floor, making sure you are wearing a similar heel height to what you will wear on your wedding day! All skirts are an average of 125cm long.

NEED TO KNOW

Each measurement includes a small seam allowance; meaning your measurement needs to be the same, or smaller than listed for your dress to fit comfortably. Keep in mind that it is much easier to have a dress taken in than to let it out which is often not possible.

All Anna Campbell dresses are hand made, one by one, and as a hand made product, so you can expect a slight variance in the size of each dress. If you are unsure about what size best suits you, or you can't see a size below that will suit you please contact us!

HELPFUL HINTS

In the case where your bust and your hips are measuring different sizes, we would recommend ordering the size that suits the larger size, and then taking it in during alterations if need be.

If you are concerned about the length of your skirt being too short, you are welcome to request additional length, for an additional cost. Worried about your bust being too exposed or looking to add a little extra sparkle to your bridal look?
